

Visiting Scholar
Geraldine Chatelard

Wednesday, February 10th 2016

12:00pm

ERC Conference Room 115

Brief presentation followed by reception

From Aliens, Traitors and Defectors to Victims, Talents and Citizens: Redefining Pre-2003 Emigrants in Post-2003 Iraq

Geraldine Chatelard is a current Visiting Scholar with CCIS and Research Associate at the Institut Français du Proche-Orient in Amman, Jordan. Chatelard received her doctorate in Contemporary History from École des hautes études en sciences sociales (EHESS) in Paris. Since 1991, Chatelard has been living mostly in the Middle-East researching issues of identity politics, governance and local development, and migration and displacement in historical and contemporary perspectives.

For questions about this event, please call 858-822-4447 or email aminvielle@ucsd.edu