

NOV. 29 TEACH-IN MIGRANT CARAVAN

The purpose of this discussion is to explore the questions raised by the migrant caravan in our community about migration, law and ethics. How can the region work collaboratively towards a humane and orderly response to the arrival of the migrants, while maintaining security? How can civil society ensure immediate shelter and safety for migrants, as well as access to due process? Faculty and members of civil society will engage in a reflective conversation about this pressing challenge.

REFRESHMENTS SERVED

SPEAKERS:

Tom Wong, David Fitzgerald, Lynn Stephen, Rafael Fernandez de Castro,
Mari Galleta, Savitri Arvey

Organized by:

USMEX

CCIS

International Institute

Human Rights
Program

MEChA

LOCATION:
Great Hall

TIME:
4:00pm-6:00pm

DATE:
Thursday, November 29th