

UCLA Center for the Study of International Migration

Emerging Immigration Scholars Workshop Session 2: Inside Asylum

Friday, January 29, 2021 via Zoom from 12PM - 2PM (PST)

The Center for the Study of International Migration (UCLA) and the Center for Comparative Immigration Studies (UCSD) invite you to attend the “Emerging Immigration Scholars” workshops, scheduled every other Friday from 12-2 PM PST, starting on January 15 and continuing until March 12. The workshops seek to create an interdisciplinary space for junior immigration scholars to share drafts of their research and writing projects and elicit feedback from one another as well as the community of migration scholars throughout the UC system. The workshops are open to the public. Workshop sessions will feature brief presentations by authors followed by comments, segueing quickly to discussion.

Presenters:

John Doering-White, Assistant Professor, College of Social Work, University of South Carolina, "Shelter Vision"

Luisa Feline Freier, Associate Professor, Social and Political Sciences, Universidad del Pacifico in Peru, "To Be Or Not To Be A Refugee: Self-identification, Migrant Classification And Socio-Economic Integration"

Chiara Galli, Klarman Postdoctoral Fellow, Department of Sociology, Cornell University, "The Space of Protection for Unaccompanied Minors: Law, Policy, and Theory"

Sara Riva, Visiting Academic, School of Social Science, University of Queensland, Australia, "Tracing Invisibility as a Colonial Project: Indigenous Women Who Seek Asylum at the US-Mexico Border"

Commentator:

Susan Bibler Coutin, Associate Dean for Academic Programs and Professor of Criminology, Law and Society and Anthropology at the University of California, Irvine.

Registration is required to receive access to the papers for each session. The link and password will be included on your registration confirmation from Zoom. Papers will be available via the shared box folder approximately 10 days before each session.

[\[Registration Link\]](#)

For more information, please email w2tam@ucsd.edu or slangeles@ucla.edu